

HOGARTH'S RURAL HOME

His Tomb and Garrick's Tribute to the Great Caricaturist.

It may not be generally known that Hogarth's country house at Chiswick is preserved entire to his memory. A brass plate over the door is to this effect: "This house was purchased in 1802 by Lieutenant Colonel Shipway in order to save it from being demolished, and by restoring the building he has preserved it to the nation and to the art world in memory of the genius that once lived and worked within its walls."

It was in 1749 that Hogarth acquired the house at Chiswick, his town residence being at the corner of Leicester Fields. Between these two houses he spent most of his life, usually passing the summer months at Chiswick. The garden as it stands is somewhat abridged of its former dimensions. The stable and painting room have disappeared, but one important feature remains. This is the millinery tree, under whose shade he entertained the little foundlings put out to nurse at Chiswick. Hogarth's marriage was childless, and his affection went out to stranger children.

Hogarth died at the age of sixty-seven at his house in Leicester Fields, where he had gone in a weak state after an illness. The funeral was at Chiswick. His tombstone bears the following inscription:

Farwell, great painter of mankind. Who reached the noblest point of art. Whose pictured morals charm the mind And through the eye correct the heart!

If genius fire thee, reader, stay: If nature touch thee drop a tear: If neither move thee turn away, For Hogarth's honored dust lies here.

These lines were written by his friend David Garrick—Architectural Review.

AFRICA'S GREAT DESERT.

Sahara Is Not All Barren and Has Two Distinct Populations.

The Sahara, that vast expanse of country lying to the south of Algeria, is commonly called "the desert" by Europeans. The Sahara in no wise, however, means "desert." It is simply the Arab appellation of this extensive tract, mainly composed of great plains, which are even well populated in certain districts. It is quite a mistake to imagine that all is barren and sterile, for there are to be found large date palm plantations as well as numerous flocks of sheep and great numbers of camels which man must tend and care for.

The Sahara contains two distinct populations—the one sedentary, the other nomad. The former live in the towns and villages, cultivating the soil and tending the date palms. The latter are shepherds, roaming from place to place in search of pasture for their cattle. How few are there in the home land who have any idea of the Sahara, of the Arab tribes who live there. Travelers to these regions are comparatively rare, but all are amply repaid for a visit.

Life among the moving tents of the nomads is deeply interesting in its primitive simplicity. The country itself has a grandeur and beauty which is quite unique. Its rolling dunes, painted with orange and crimson and gold against violet and purple shadows at sunrise and sunset; its green oases, its wild sandstorms, its lovely mirages, once seen are never to be forgotten. While the solemn silence strikes the soul with awe, one almost realizes why the Arabs call all this "the garden of Allah."—Christian Herald.

Possibilities of Translation. An English writer made an experiment once of the gain and loss of translation.

I heard that L. would write my "life" When I gave up my breath. I felt that this indeed would add A new delight to death. This was translated into another language, then from that into another, and so on until a dozen versions had been made. Of course there was a different translator each time. The last version reads as follows:

Dear, in my song you still shall live, Though under earth you lie. Ah, had you of that grace to give I should not need to die!

The Sewing Machine. Did you know a lighted match or a taper would do wonders with the sewing machine? Try it some day. Light a candle or just a match and apply it to different parts of that grace to give. Lints and threads will burn, the chat can be wiped off, and the machine will run twice as easily.

When a machine gums it is advisable to remove the head, place it in a tub and cover with gasoline. It makes a new machine from an old one.

Heroic War Measures. Chaka, a great African native chief, trained a powerful army which was famous in war. If a regiment was beaten it was slaughtered on its return to the king's palace. If any man lost his weapon in war he was killed for cowardice. If the chief wanted to see what kind of weapons were most successful he would order a sham fight with them in which real lives would be lost.

Worse Than the Upper Ten. "Only the upper ten go to your church, don't they?" inquired the plain person. "Yes," replied the organist of the swell church, "but they're not a circumstance to the uppers tenor in our choir."—Philadelphia Press.

For Cause. He—Why are you always throwing your money in my face? She—Because I can't keep it out of your hands.—Baltimore American.

Commission Government.

The question of adopting commission form of government is being agitated in Nutley.

A delegation of Nutley citizens visited Ridgewood in Passaic county where commission government is in operation and Mayor Garber of that place told the visitors that under the commission form Ridgewood saved enough in a few days to pay the salaries of the entire commission for a whole year. At present we are paying something like $11,000 in salaries to about twenty officials. Most of these places could be done away with, as the commission with a few clerks would be able to look after matters fully. Because of inefficiency and lack of business system there are many leaks in the present government that could be eliminated.

The chief arguments in favor of commission government for towns and cities are that it eliminates partisan and ward politics; that it introduces economy and business methods; that it gives the voters direct control both of measures and officials; that it gets rid of star chamber proceedings and makes all town business and accounts public; that it establishes direct responsibility and renders each commissioner answerable to the voters for the conduct of his department; that it expedites business and is not subject to any delay found under the old mayor and council system; that it puts a better class of citizens to take a keener interest in men in office; that it arouses the town affairs; that it gets rid of sinecure positions and political snags; and finally that it makes boss rule practically impossible.

NEWARK THEATRES

Newark Theatre.

While George Evans promises to present an all new programme by his "Honey Boy Minstrels," at the Newark Theatre next week, he is said to have retained nearly all the principals of the excellent company he presented last year. Comedians John King, Sam Lee, Charles Hilliard, Pierce Keegan, W. William Cawley, Lew Gilmore and James Castle will be found prominent. The principal vocalists of the new show are Vaughn Comfort, James Veehan, Sam Lloyd, Al Fontaine, Charles Crossman and Master George Koty. Tommy Hyde is in charge of the dancing. Of course "Honey Boy" Evans is to be seen in one of those laughable talks in which he is positively at the head of America's monologues. Vaughn Comfort, the best interlocutor minstrelsy has ever had, will preside over the first part.

Proctor's Theatre.

Miss Eva Tanguay, that distinctive popular comedienne who has come to be known by the theater-going public as the modern Goddess of Mirth, will hold the boards at Proctor's Park Place Theatre during the week of March 4, as the headliner on a bill of excellence. For frivolity unrestrained, the stage has yet to produce a more ingratiating entertainer than Miss Tanguay.

The strength of the bill will also be reflected in the engagement of Conroy and Le Maire, the well-known black face comedians. Yvette, the dancing violinist, will add to the diversity in the entertaining scheme. Others who will contribute to the merit of the performance will be Catherine Hayes and Mabel Johnson; the College Trio, in a unique musical act; Evelyn Hope and Company, in a dramatic playlet; Sam and Kelly, in a novel juggling act; the Flying Martins, the aerial wonders, in a sensational trapeze stunt; and the photo plays.

Miner's Theatre.

Johnny Baker and his Star Show Girls will be the offering at Miner's for the week commencing Monday matinee. This attraction has always been popular here, but this season it is bigger and better than ever, and presents many novelties. "Florence's Birthday Party" is the title of the opening part and "Helen's Fate" brings the performance to a close. In both pieces the entire company is seen. There is an interesting plot to each travesty, while the costumes, scenery and musical numbers are all that can be desired. John T. Baker heads the funmakers, and he is ably assisted by well-known entertainers. In the vaudeville portion of the show are the three Whelans, in a vaudeville; Quarrier and Quaint, singers and dancers; Harrigan and Giles in a sketch, and Carmelo's Life poses, direct from Europe. The special feature will be Lydia and Albina, novelty equilibrist. Story writers' contest, Tuesday; wrestling, Wednesday; amateurs, Friday. Ladies' matinee every day.

Gayety Theatre, Newark.

What is classed as one of the genuine leaders in this season's burlesque wheel of maid and merriment, is Charles Robinson and his Crusoe Girls, which is to be the attraction all next week at the Gayety, commencing Monday matinee. In organizing the present season's company, strict attention was paid to merit, and every member of this big company was carefully selected. In the arrangement of the programme, particular pains were made to secure the best of material by two of the most brilliant authors and composers, Charles Robinson and Matt Woodward, the result being the management, with pardonable pride, announce that in presenting "Lost, a Million Dollars" and "The Gay Skydivers," they have secured the best. A strong feature is the display of regal beauties, of which there are twenty-five, said to be "stunners," who can all sing and dance. In its entirety, the company numbers fifty people, which includes a special vaudeville department, consisting exclusively of headline acts. Amateurs, Friday, March 11, "The Star and Garter Show."

Read About These Three Girls. How Sick They Were and How Their Health Was Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Appleton, Wis.—"I take pleasure in writing you an account of my sickness. I told a friend of mine how I felt and she said I had female trouble and advised me to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as she had taken it herself for the same trouble with wonderful results. I had been sick for two years and overworked myself, and had such bad feelings every month that I could hardly walk for pain. I was very nervous and easily tired out and could not sleep nights. I had dizzy spells, and pimples came on my face. But I have taken your Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has restored my health. I think it is the best medicine in existence."—Miss CECILIA M. BAUER, 1181 Lawrence St., Appleton, Wis.

A SCHOOL TEACHER'S GRATITUDE: Geneva, Iowa—"I have been teaching school for some years and I have neglected my health because I was too busy with my work to attend to myself properly. I suffered greatly every month and was on the verge of a nervous breakdown. "I wrote to you about my condition and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the Blood Purifier as you recommended. These remedies have done wonders for me and I can highly and widely recommend them to every suffering woman."—Miss MINNIE SHAVER, R. F. D. No. 1, Geneva, Iowa, c/o Sam Erickson.

A COLORADO GIRL'S CASE: Montrose, Col.—"I was troubled very much with irregular periods. Sometimes two months would elapse. I suffered severe headache, was weak and nervous, could eat scarcely anything. "I took both Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier and the result was wonderful. I feel like another person. "I think your remedies are the best on earth and cannot express my thankfulness to you for what they have done to me. I help my neighbors when they are sick, and I shall always recommend your medicines."—Miss ELLA McCANDLESS, Montrose, Col.

Is it not reasonable to suppose that a medicine that did so much for these girls will benefit any other girl who is suffering with the same troubles? Does it not seem the only sensible thing to give such a medicine at least a trial? You may be sure that it can do you no harm, and there are lots of proof that it will do you much good.

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No one sick with woman's ailments does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine, made from roots and herbs, it has restored so many suffering women to health. Write to LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO. (CONFIDENTIAL) LYNN, MASS., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Another Coat Year.

President Forrest F. Dryden of the Prudential Insurance Company of America, has just issued to policyholders the Prudential's annual report for 1911. The report shows that the company issued and revived in 1911 over $135,000,000 ordinary insurance and nearly $34,000,000 industrial, or a total of over $44,000,000 paid for life insurance. The Prudential now has over two billion dollars insurance in force on over 10,000,000 policies. The increase in insurance in force in 1911 was over $167,000,000. Policyholders were paid in 1911 over $27,000,000 and the total payments to policyholders since organization, plus amount held at interest to their credit, is over $466,000,000. The total income in 1911 was over $81,000,000.

In commenting on the big figures shown in the report, President Dryden says: "Prudential history records another year of wonderful progress. The results secured prove conclusively that life insurance is a recognized necessity, and one of the few items in the family budget that cost less today than in former years. The amount of new insurance written and paid for in both departments was satisfactory, and as to the stability of the business in force, all previous records were surpassed. The expense rate was reduced in both the industrial and ordinary departments by means of rigid economy in every item."

Concerning the assets, Mr. Dryden says: "The assets of the company on December 31, 1911, were conservatively valued at $250,186,137.17. These funds are invested in securities of the highest grade, purchased under most favorable conditions, with the certainty of a satisfactory interest return."

"At the end of 1911, the company's liabilities were $249,999,091.60, of which the most important item is the policy reserve, amounting to $202,909,823.00."

"The company's liabilities include $29,567,326.51, of which $4,750,144.00 is payable in the form of policy dividends in 1912, and $24,817,182.51 apportioned to date to participating policies and payable as policy dividends after 1912."

"After setting aside for dividends to policyholders the sum of $29,567,326.51, just referred to, the surplus, including capital stock, was $18,187,045.57."
